My two years on the committee has been wonderful. There was so much important and wonderful information that was presented to us that teachers as a whole aren't told about. It has been wonderful hearing it first hand from people who are invested in making our district awesome.

In order to respect everyone's time, I feel there should be some measure in place to allow everyone to be heard, but not feel like they are being held hostage by one person during discussion.

I am grateful to have served two years on this committee.

This was my second year as a member of the DEIC committee. I must say it was very organized and information was relayed to us in a timely manner. I appreciated how our questions and comments were taken and how our voices were held to a high level of importance. I am going to miss attending DEIC meetings and look forward to encouraging my coworkers to take part.

I felt like decisions were already made when presented to DEIC. We were there merely to rubber stamp the decision. For example, calendars and grading. When asked about calendars the committee suggested that they wanted a work day after the Christmas break and a school end date in May (We were told that the end date in May would help students wanting to take summer classes) Calendars were sent to schools before presenting to DEIC and did not contain an option for both requests. When calendars were presented only two options were given to DEIC. If we wanted to help students by ending the year in May we could not have a work day after the break and we had to work an additional day that year. The grading issue was even worse. We were told that we were going to look at changing the multiplier and reporting for grades. When they came back it was with a report of what they would be bringing to the board (without the opportunity for the committee to vote). It was clear the committee had a problem with the report and the findings but there was nothing we could do at that point. Decisions were already made before presented. Committee was only there to approve.

I was only on for one meeting and would like to participate next school year as well.
