1. Narrative description of the Prop 28 arts education program(s) funded. (2500 character limit).

During the 2025–26 school year, Orland Unified School District utilized Proposition 28 funds to expand access to and strengthen arts education programs across multiple school sites. Proposition 28 funding supported dedicated music instruction at Mill Street School and Fairview School, providing students with increased opportunities to participate in standards-aligned music education and develop foundational musical skills. At CK Price Middle School and Orland High School, Proposition 28 funds supported full-time graphic arts and art teachers, expanding visual arts instruction and providing students with increased access to high-quality, standards-aligned arts education. Funds were also used to purchase instructional materials and supplies and support arts-related experiences that enhanced classroom instruction, student engagement, and creative expression. The district also utilized Proposition 28 funds to develop and refine arts curriculum to support consistent, high-quality instruction and address the varied needs of students across grade levels and school sites. At North Valley High School, the district specifically targeted arts programming for continuation high school students by expanding opportunities for art study, creative expression, and meaningful participation in arts learning experiences. These expenditures supported the district's efforts to provide equitable access to arts education and increase student participation in the arts. Proposition 28 funding helped ensure that students across the district, including students attending continuation education programs, have access to a well-rounded, high-quality education with meaningful opportunities to engage in the visual and performing arts.
