EMPLOYEES: Filing of a "complaint" is not the same as filing a grievance. The filing of a "complaint" does not suspend the time to file a grievance. If you are a certificated or classified employee, you should review the grievance procedure contained in your respective collective bargaining agreement. The classified and certificated collective bargaining agreements contain detailed procedures on the grievance process and indicate the timing for which a grievance must be filed or be waived by the failure to file the grievance in a timely manner.
