1. Narrative description of the Prop 28 arts education program(s) funded. (2500 character limit).

Johnstonville Elementary School District is committed to enhancing arts education and fostering creative expression among our students. The district is utilizing Prop 28 funding to bring to students a visual art program which will include learning about and participating in opportunities to do sketching, drawing, watercolor painting, clay modeling, crafting, oil painting, and other fine art mediums as time allows. This program will be for all TK-8th grade students in the district. This initiative underscores our dedication to providing diverse artistic experiences and nurturing the holistic development of our students. Central to this new program was the addition of a teaching artist. The district was fortunate to be able to hire a classified staff member who is an working artist in her off-work time. She has painted a mural for the district and is a talented and creative artist. This team member brings a wealth of knowledge and a passion for visual arts in various mediums which makes the learning exciting for students. By providing a expert guidance and personalized attention, the teaching artist is helping students to develop their confidence and sense of curiosity to be able to try new things. To support this program, Johnstonville School has purchased essential equipment and supplies that help to facilitate the art lessons. These resources are essential in creating an environment where students can try out what it is to be a visual artist and then showcase their art at district sponsored art nights. Our district believes that arts education is a vital component of a well-rounded education. By implementing the visuals arts program funded through Prop 28, we are taking significant steps toward ensuring that Johnstonville students have access to high-quality arts education. The program not only enriches student education experiences, but also strengthens the cultural fabric of our school community.
